1	A beautifully landscape area to stroll around and sit on a bench and watch the bay.	Feb 25, 2010 3:16 AM
2	it's open-ness the way it offers views back across the water to the beach the fact that it is our local beach and it tucked away	Feb 25, 2010 4:27 AM

6	The relatively small, well maintained open space with slight elevation, containing the well patronised exercise paths and proximate to the boats in the marina, the beach and a cafe.	Feb 26, 2010 3:04 AM
7	a clear space to enjoy without getting sand all over me when i sit down. I can have a picnic there if there.	Feb 26, 2010 4:45 AM
8	The grass is a big attraction for all unit and flat dwellers. Great spot to walk the dog. Wonderful spot to sit and watch the water traffic pass by and sit and look at the sea. It is a great natural spot.	Feb 26, 2010 4:52 AM
9	I like that it has a potential for people meeting, eating and catching up... safely.	Feb 27, 2010 2:10 AM
10	The view across the water.	Feb 28, 2010 6:35 AM
11	The fact that it is an open grassed area. That there are few people, other than those who wish to sit, walk around the area, who use the area for organised activities. A good area for walking the dogs as it is directly beside the dog off leash beach. Any organised sporting activity would detract from this feature. The view is fantastic whilst sitting here at night with the dogs running around and playing peacefully here.	Feb 28, 2010 9:30 PM

20	It is a bit of a boring place that needs improvement. It is a bit wasted. It is at the end of the Promenade and could do with a makeover. The council is talking about a skate park and I think it is a great idea to get the skaters off the Promenade - they can still use the Promenade, but it is good to give them a place to play! 286	its a slightly elevated area with nice views, i like the grass on it, although that is a bit neglected, there is just too much concrete and the council has already removed some grassy bits from the foreshore near the st kilda baths.	Apr 7, 2010 4:03 AM
